

List of instruments (hedging instruments) used to prevent the risks connected with the foreign currency, as well as a brief description of these instruments

The Bank concluded forward contracts in order to avoid the risks connected with foreign currency:

Currency forward -The main principle of forward contracts is the execution of transaction on currency conversion on a future date at a predetermined fixed rate